

Not at a Healthy Weight?

An obesity study for teens, age 12-17.

Doctors are researching the combination of an investigational medication with changes in exercise and diet to see if it may help teens lose weight.

You might be eligible to participate in the Adolescent Obesity Study if you:

- Are a male or female, 12-17 years old
- Have a BMI that is greater than or the same as the United States (US)-weighted mean of the 95th percentile based on age and sex with a body weight greater than 60 kg.
- Have a parent, guardian, or caregiver able to support and supervise your participation in the study

Each participant will be in the study for approximately 60 weeks and will visit the study clinic about 18 times. The investigational medication and all study-related care will be provided at no cost to qualified participants. Participants may be reimbursed for their time and travel expenses, if they qualify and choose to participate.
